THE EFFICIENT WAY TO REDUCE
VOIDS IN BOXES

EFFICIENCY MEANS
MINIMIZING THE PACKAGING VOLUME.

VOID REDUCTION FOR BOXES OF VARIOUS FORMATS

The fast-growing e-commerce and mail order sector is dominated by a desire for ever shorter delivery times, as well as a need for eco-friendly and sustainable packaging. Rising transport costs, an increasingly acute skills shortage, and ever greater parcel volumes – combined with considerable product choice – make this a challenge for online retailers and logistics service providers.

This is where the benefits of the AUTO.MINIMIZE by Storopack come in. It not only minimizes the volume of the parcel, but also reduces the use of packaging material and makes transport more resource-saving and efficient. Thanks to fully automated processes, it also enables shorter turnaround times and improved throughput.

The AUTO.MINIMIZE can process creased cardboard boxes of various formats. As such, a wide variety of potential box types can be created from a handful of basic dimensions. Voids within the parcel can be kept to a minimum to reflect a wide selection of products. This saves material and transport costs, streamlines warehouse and purchasing processes, and – last but not least – ensures a positive unboxing experience for the recipient.

AUTOMATED PROCESSING

The first step is to determine the box format and the parcel's filling level. Oscillating blades then cut the corners of the box to just the right height, after which the box is closed and sealed with water activated tape (WAT) or self-adhesive tape.

Sealing the box with gummed paper tape is not only resource-saving but also tamper-proof, as the WAT tape cannot be removed from the box without damage. What's more, the gummed paper tape is exceptionally customer-friendly, as the box and the tape can be disposed of together for recycling.

Alternatively, the box can be closed by utilizing a lid attached with hotmelt glue.
